

Red Group

AM - Mr Ian

At the beginning of the term, AM Red Group have been busy both indoors and outdoors. The creative area is a place where the children can paint, cut, and stick. They often show high levels of involvement.

The small world area is a place where the children can use their imaginations.

The children are always very proud of the models they have made with the construction toys.

"painting" the fence is good for developing those gross motor skills.

At Forest School, the children investigated the early signs of autumn. They collected apple that had fallen from the trees and kicked their way through the leaves.

It was pleasing to see how the children were able to explore independently. They looked for mini-beasts, using magnifying glasses and binoculars.

The children made their own collection of leaves and twigs.

We return to "base camp" at the end of the session before a game of "1,2,3 where are you?"

In November Red Group went for their second visit to Forest School. This time, the children were much more confident when exploring the forest independently.

They made collages using some of the natural Autumnal materials they found on the forest floor.

The children went on their own Autumn Scavenger hunts.

The children enjoyed playing amongst the many fallen leaves, hearing them crunch underfoot.

During our Diwali celebrations Red Group were excited to make Diwas using clay. Dressing-up in traditional costumes was also a popular activity.
