

Pretend play fosters advanced thinking, communication and social skills. As children engage in imaginative scenarios, they practice negotiation, take on different perspectives, develop and execute plans and solve problems carefully.

Pretend play

Listening to special music and moving to the rhythm.

Ribbon and fan dancing.

Fan dancing

Ribbon dancing

Lunar New Year celebrations

Green group take part in the Lion and Dragon parade.

Early movement requires the coordination of sight and touch, reflexes such as spatial awareness, and motor skills like coordination and control.