

We have continued with our cooking sessions this term. Here we are baking special star-shaped biscuits. The process involves the children stirring the ingredients together, rolling out the dough, then cutting out the biscuits. They were delicious.

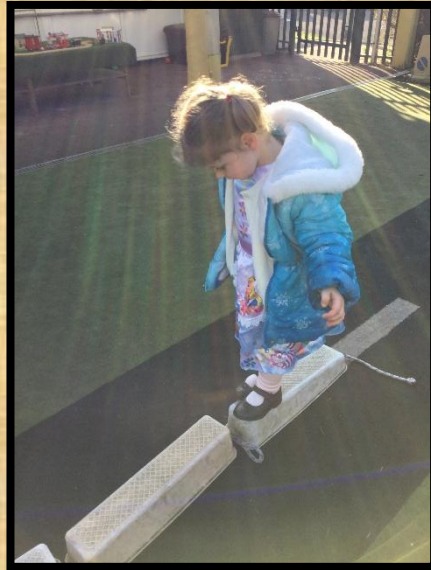

Our theme this term has been traditional tales. During our follow-up work to the story of the "Three Little Pigs", the children made their own houses using straws. They worked with thoughtfulness, care and imagination.

We have spent a half term working with Claire, the artist. A particular focus has been investigating the properties of clay and using it imaginatively. The sessions took place both indoors and outdoors.

The story of the Three Billy Goats Gruff led to the children investigating the properties of water as well as balancing along a bridge they had made themselves.
